Week 2 -March 18th - March 24th

Week 2 was an incredible creative and productive week, as KC's members already put together what is the blueprint of the second part of "Wabi-Sabi".

Speaking as the choreographer myself, the creative process has been smoother and faster than than expected: it's been incredibly surprising the amount of information we were able to workshop and bring to the space.

The second part of "Wabi-Sabi" will be composed by 5 different sections, each of them characterized by clear intention, clarity of movement and specific mood, still following the flow of the narrative.

It's my intention to spend Week 3 to work on details, bring small changes and potentially new material to this new creation. We are becoming more and more excited to share what we have been working on.
